

EDITORIAL

It was 68 years ago that we found ourselves together embarking on what was to most of us our greatest adventure to date. We brought a wide variety of talents, backgrounds, prejudices, motivations, energy levels and dreams to the opportunities offered by a Princeton education. And we have profited in varying degrees and directions from those opportunities.

It has been truly a vicarious thrill to us to discover the diverse paths taken by so many of you and to share your experiences with the rest of the class.

It's not true, as so many of you have insisted when asked to contribute to this Newsletter, that you haven't done anything that would interest your classmates. Every story submitted has been of interest, as evidenced by the many cards and letters we have received.

So we hope that those of you who have not sent in a story of some of your life experiences will consider doing so. The accumulated Summer Newsletters constitute quite a class history, unique we think among Princeton classes. We would like to keep it going as long as we can. To do so, we need your input. It can be about your life's work, a hobby, a trip, war experiences, a colorful episode or character you have encountered along the way, or a poem. We even welcome philosophical ramblings. Try it. It's fun!
