Professor Emeritus Fred Greenstein to Speak to RMPC, May 6

Fred Greenstein, Princeton Professor Emeritus of Public and International Affairs will speak to our group.

Tuesday, May 6, at the University Club, 1673 Sherman Street, in Denver

Time: 5:30 hors d'oeuvres and cash bar, 6:30 talk

Cost: $15

Prof. Greenstein's topic will be:

"What Should We Look for in a President and How Does George W. Bush Stack Up?"

The cost of the event is $15 per person, including hors d'oeuvres and cash bar starting at 5:30 PM, with Prof. Greenstein's talk at about 6:30PM. Please use the tear of form below to reserve your space.

Prof. Greenstein is a distinguished presidential historian, having written several books on the topic and serving as the Director of the Research Program in Leadership Studies at the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs. He is the author or editor of eight books on the presidency, and a Fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Science. He is also the past President of the International Society for Political Psychology. Professor Greenstein's most recent publication is "The Presidential Difference: Leadership Style from FDR to Clinton", a study of the political impacts of the U.S. Presidents since Franklin Delano Roosevelt. He has been offering this very thought-provoking talk to various alumni groups on the leadership style of various presidents, including George Bush. The talk has been very well received. You may be interested to see a recent interview he did for the Princeton Weekly Bulletin at
